MEMORANDUM FOR: Director of Central Intelligence

SUBJECT: Promotions of Employees Imprisoned

25X1

3. In addition to the many other implications resulting from the imprisonment of these employees, we have been concerned over the effect that prolonged imprisonment will have on their Agency careers. Although each employee has been receiving the normal periodic pay increases, their grade level does not measure up to the level each might have attained had they not been imprisoned. The promotions recommended by FE Division would align these employees with others of similar backgrounds and would avoid the career retardation resulting from years of imprisonment. These promotions will also have an immeasurable effect on the morale of these employees when, upon release, they learn of this and other actions taken by the Agency on their behalf. Attachment (b) is a schedule by which the recommended promotions may be effected.

4. The Office of Personnel budget has provided for the payment of the salaries of these employees at their present grades. Additional funds may be required to effect retroactive promotions which may be approved for these employees.

5. It is recommended that:
